Aims and Scope

The Majestic Greenenix: A Journal of Modern Plant Science (MGJMPS) is a peer-reviewed journal publishing research in plant sciences, agriculture, biotechnology, and related life science fields. The journal aims to promote innovative and sustainable research in plant biology, crop science, environmental conservation, and modern agricultural practices. It provides an international platform for researchers and professionals to advance scientific knowledge and interdisciplinary collaboration in modern plant sciences.

Call for Papers

MGJMPS cordially invites researchers, academicians, scientists, and industry professionals to submit original research articles, review papers, short communications, and perspectives that contribute to advancing knowledge in plant sciences and related disciplines. The journal welcomes cutting-edge research on topics including plant biotechnology, genetics, crop science, plant physiology, sustainable agriculture, biodiversity, environmental conservation, molecular biology, and modern agricultural innovations.
