Aims and Scope

The Majestic Journal of Zoology (MJOZ) is a peer-reviewed journal that addresses fundamental and applied areas of zoology, animal biology, and related life sciences. The journal's mission is to enhance knowledge of animal biology and biodiversity by supporting global scientific research and conservation efforts. The aim is to provide an international platform that promotes scientific understanding of animals, evolution, ecology, and interactions within natural ecosystems.

Call for Papers

MAJZ cordially invites wildlife researchers, researchers in aquaculture and marine biology, and field specialists working with animal populations to submit original research articles, review papers, short communications, and perspectives that encompass cutting-edge research advancing knowledge in the field of zoological sciences. These include topics such as animal behavior, ecology, evolution, genetics, biodiversity, conservation biology, taxonomy, and wildlife science.
