

Aims and Scope

The Majestic American Journal of Pediatrics is an international, peer-reviewed journal focused on advancing pediatric healthcare research. It publishes basic, clinical, translational, and population-based studies on child health, development, disease prevention, diagnosis, and treatment. The journal aims to foster scientific knowledge and interdisciplinary collaboration to improve the health and well-being of infants, children, and adolescents worldwide.

Call for Papers

MAJP cordially invites researchers, public health and healthcare officials and clinicians to submit original research articles, review papers, short communication and perspective that focus on publishing innovative studies, clinical investigations, and evidence-based practices that contribute to improvements in child health outcomes and pediatric medicine globally.
